

A thorough system of public schools in Idaho has been defined by the Idaho Legislature as one in which the skills necessary to communicate effectively are taught.

Communication skills enabling students to be responsible citizens of their homes, schools and communities will be emphasized throughout the curriculum. The teaching and demonstrating of effective communication skills will be exemplified throughout this district's educational program.

Each year, age-appropriate classroom, school and community activities will be provided to all students for the purpose of developing written and oral communication skills with individuals and groups. Good listening skills are a critical component of the communication process.

In this district, written and oral communication will be incorporated into the curriculum for all subject matters and at all grade levels. Each teacher will utilize appropriate communication skills in the classroom and will provide an opportunity for students to practice communication skills by writing, speaking, listening and small group interaction. The student's development of written and oral communication skills will be a component of the teacher's assessment of the student's progress, as appropriate for the subject matter.

Teachers will identify in their lesson plans and/or course overview how communication will be emphasized and assessed in their classes.
